MARKET UPDATE AND COMMENTARY

- Soft month for the portfolio against a backdrop of rebounding markets.*
- For the calendar year to date, shorts have provided considerable cushioning in weak markets.
- Looking forward, there are exciting themes on the long side, but we expect further broader market weakness ahead.

Market Commentary

After a very challenging first half of the year, global equity markets found some relief in July, with rampant oil prices and rising bond yields reversing direction. It is important to stress that bear market rallies are normal. Hence, at this stage, we don't see this as a sign that we are entering a new bull market.

Looking at the calendar year so far, we have seen equity markets effectively move down as bond yields (a proxy for future rate expectations) rose. Hence, as bond yields retraced a little, it was no surprise that elements of the equity markets would move higher in the short term.

There are, however, two aspects to bear markets: a reduction in valuations, which is what we have seen to some extent so far, albeit only in line with changes in bond yields; and a reduction in the earnings outlook. There are not many signs of the latter happening on a broad scale yet. Applying rules of thumb based on historic bull and bear markets, we would not be surprised to see further weakness, so remain cautious and alert to the rapidly changing backdrop.

In recent weeks, we increased our net exposure to the 70% range, including removing index shorts. This weighting is in line with our long-term average, and all else being equal, we would expect to add to short positions (i.e. reduce net exposure) if the markets move higher from current levels.

We remain excited by opportunities across decarbonisation, semiconductors, travel, Chinese consumers, European financials, and growth industrials. On the short side, we continue to protect the portfolio with positions in stocks that, in our view, have alarming fundamentals and/or valuations, most of which are in the technology and consumer areas.

Performance Analysis

The portfolio has benefited from its broad tool kit during this year's market sell-off, with shorts contributing 5% to returns, providing considerable cushioning. These were skewed towards the "growthier" end of the market, which had been hot for some time leading into late 2021. The broad de-rating of equities, coincident with rising bond yields, meant the long side of the portfolio was not immune to the market sell-off. This is consistent with our experience in the two large bear markets of 2000-03 and 2007-09. On the positive side, within the long portfolio, the top contributors for the calendar year to date include Mosaic (fertiliser), China Overseas Land & Investment (Chinese property), Glencore (mining, commodities trading), Saras (Italian refiner) and Beazley (specialist insurer).

Valuation

The portfolio's aggregate valuation metrics are attractive in both an absolute sense and relative to the market, with a 53% higher starting earnings yield and a 44% discount on an asset basis (see table below).

Metric	Platinum Capital Limited	MSCI AC World Net Index (A$)
NTM Earnings Yield	10.4% (Price-to-Earnings ratio of 9.6x)	6.8% (Price-to-Earnings ratio of 14.8x)
NTM Dividend Yield	3.4%	2.8%
Price-to-Book Ratio	1.4x	2.5x
Enterprise Value-to-Sales	1.4x	1.7x

The valuations in the table have been calculated by Platinum and for the portfolio refer to the long portion of the portfolio, exclude negative net earnings and use FactSet consensus earnings. As at 31 July 2022. NTM = next twelve months.
