1. Investment returns are calculated using the Fund's unit price and represent the combined income and capital return for the specified period. They are net of fees and costs (excluding the buy-sell spread and any investment performance fee payable), pre-tax, and assume the reinvestment of distributions. The investment returns shown are historical and no warranty can be given for future performance. You should be aware that historical performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Due to the volatility of underlying assets of the Fund and other risk factors associated with investing, investment returns can be negative (particularly in the short-term).

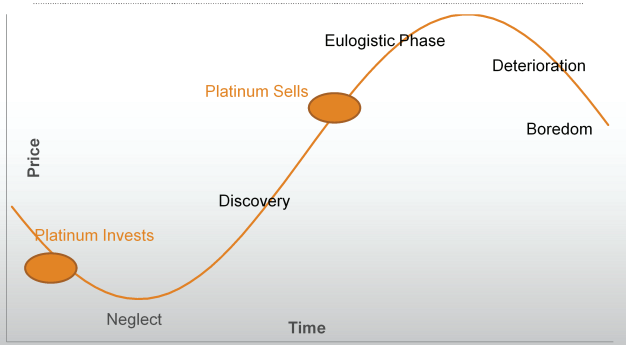

2. The investment returns depicted in this graph are cumulative on A$20,000 invested in the Fund since inception relative to the MSCI All Country Asia ex Japan Net Index in A$. The investment returns are calculated using the Fund's unit price. They are net of fees and costs (excluding the buy-sell spread and any investment performance fee payable), pre-tax and assume the reinvestment of distributions. It should be noted that Platinum does not invest by reference to the weightings of the Index. Underlying assets are chosen through Platinum's individual stock selection process and as a result holdings will vary considerably to the make-up of the Index. The Index is provided as a reference only.

3. The "Long %" represents the exposure of physical holdings and long stock derivatives. The "Net %" represents the exposure of physical holdings and both long and short derivatives. The "Currency %" represents the currency exposure for the Fund's Portfolio, taking into account currency hedging.

4. Top Ten positions shows the Fund's top long share exposure positions. Long derivative exposures are included, however, short derivative exposures are not. Platinum Investment Management Limited ABN 25 063 565 006 AFSL 221935, trading as Platinum Asset Management ("Platinum") is the responsible entity and issuer of units in the Platinum Asia Fund (the "Fund"). Market update and Commentary

Over the quarter, there was further evidence that China has entered a new bull market and the Shanghai Composite accelerated in December; our life insurance stocks in particular made excellent returns. Rate cuts, an improving property market and the commencement of The Chinese Mutual Market Access program (sometimes called the 'through-train') were all positive influences. This allows global investors to more freely invest in the A-share stock market via Hong Kong.

Over 2014, the Indian market was very strong with the banks continuing to run hard through to year-end as inflation eased and the oil price fall is a major boost to this country as an energy-importer. Lower energy costs will benefit most of the region, excluding Malaysia.

During the year, the Fund has continued to move away from SE Asia (ASEAN) which had served our investors very well, and Korea, redeploying that capital into India and China. The former was built-up in anticipation of a positive election outcome; Modi's majority win was stronger than our base case. Our focus in India is on infrastructure - property, banks, construction and ports. Meanwhile in China we have more exposure to the consumer, with long-held positions in internet stocks, insurance and liquor, the latest areas to attract us.

In Joe Lai's December Quarterly Report, the key commentary is on his recent Indian visit and the progress and prospects that we are seeing under the new leadership. He also looks at the escalation of reform efforts in neighbouring China – the 2.5 billion people in these two countries appear to be looking towards a better future.

Sector-wise, financials, consumer, technology and industrials make-up the bulk of the Fund, which carries no shorts, reflective of the positive opportunities we can see. However, we have a partial hedge on the Chinese renminbi, as we believe that it acts as a potential policy lever for the administration should they need to use it.

The Fund has benefited strongly over the last 12 months from being on the right side of the changes taking place across the region with the contribution from Indian stocks outstanding, while China and ASEAN had a meaningful impact. At a sector level, it was financials and industrials that were the core drivers of the Fund's returns.
